Effective business through effective partnering.

At Lawfield we believe that three ingredients are necessary to ensure effective partnering with clients.

Knowledge.

Every professional service needs to understand their clients and how their client's business operation generates income. At Lawfield we commit to understanding your business and our experience guides us to identify which legal services can ensure you achieve your objectives.

Practical advice & Fees.

We are focused on working with you over the long term to ensure you can proactively manage your business, to achieve this, we start by understanding your business. We willingly invest in getting to know you and your team. Asking how your business works and what the business strives to achieve.

To be most effective, we are usually involved early in your projects so we can minimise your risk whilst maximising your strengths. Ensuring all activity is legally compliant.

We apply our detailed and practical knowledge to identify effective solutions for the immediate, medium and short term.

That is why we prefer to avoid time based billing.

This approach does not allow any lawyer to effectively partner with business. At Lawfield, the relationship determines the fee. Larger scale projects work on a fixed project fee basis, agreed in advance. Medium term requirements are discussed and the most suitable billing approach for both parties – project fee, day rate or hourly rate - is agreed. Smaller, short term activities usually incur an agreed hourly rate.

We also do not charge for travel, client meetings or minor disbursements.

'Top 4' experience.

At the senior level, Lawfield's experience comes from partnership roles in a major national law firm. This experience allows Lawfield to offer clients a level of expertise and experience that is usually not available to medium and small business.

In engaging Lawfield, your business can benefit from specialist expertise in many areas, including:

Practical exposure to development activity in Perth, Henderson, Karratha, Port Hedland, Newman and Boddington.

Existing networks and experience with State Authorities and local governments.

Project advisory experience in resource projects, gas fields and pipelines.
