Effective advice through long experience.

At Lawfield we believe that two ingredients are necessary to ensure effective partnering with clients.

Knowledge from long experience.

We have over 30 years experience advising businesses.

This experience allows Lawfield to offer a level of expertise and professional skills that are usually not available to medium and small businesses.

At Lawfield we commit to understanding your business and our experience guides us to identify which legal services can ensure you achieve your objectives.

Practical advice & Fees.

We are focused on working with you over the long term to ensure you can proactively manage your business. To achieve this, we start by understanding your business.

We willingly invest in getting to know you and your team. Asking how your business works and what the business strives to achieve.

To be most effective, we are usually involved early in your projects so we can minimize your risk whilst maximizing your strengths.

We apply our detailed and practical knowledge to identify effective solutions for the immediate, medium and short term.

In engaging Lawfield, your business can benefit from specialist expertise in many areas, including:

Wide experience in land transactions and development, business acquisitions and commercial law.

An existing network and experience with State Authorities and local governments.

Practical experience in product development in new markets and technology.
